

THE PROFESSIONAL VALUES WORKSHOP WITH SIAN JAQUET

SIAN

A compelling half-day workshop designed to invigorate and unite senior management, middle management and staff.

Effective staff and client engagement are paramount in today's professional landscape. An integral aspect of achieving success lies in comprehending your professional values. How do you present yourself at work? Who do you need to be? How do you communicate?

Boosting sales and productivity is not a case of working harder, but working smarter. With tools to energise your team and give an understanding of your professional self and your role in a team.

The surge in remote working, diverse viewpoints, and the ongoing evolution of the 'new normal' has introduced more stress and complexity into our professional lives, leading many to feel disconnected from their roles and responsibilities. This workshop focuses on confidence, simplifying and clarifying the essentials.

Our values shape our decision-making processes, task execution, and interpersonal relationships within the workplace. Mastering these values and applying them will make this training session one of the most important your staff will attend.

Customised for your team (ideally comprising groups of 5-25), the workshop commences with an exclusive face-to-face interview with your CEO to establish the organisational ethos and culture.

This workshop aims to enhance communication, uphold professional standards, manage stress, boost productivity, and promote resilience and well-being.

Above all, it aims to ensure both you and your team find fulfilment and efficiency in your respective roles.

Facilitator

Sian Jaquet unlocks personal and business potential and in doing so, advocates positive change and growth. She brings a refreshing blend of pragmatism and humour to every arena. Go to sianjaquet.com for more information.

What people are saying

"I found this a really valuable exercise to make me think about what I value and how that affects how I interact professionally." - Senior Leadership, TEG

"It was the buzz of conversation for the whole afternoon and evening. Much appreciated by all. I have listened to a lot of speakers over the years on a variety of subjects. Your knowledge and delivery exceeded all." - Senior Leadership, Hilton Brown

Investment

Please contact us for full details

BOOK NOW

Please contact Andy for availability or to speak with Sian.

+(64) 21 656 435
andy@sianjaquet.com